If the antivirus is not working due to connectivity issues, it is not the fault of the antivirus. Antivirus software is a good tool to secure our Windows PCs. But there is a lot more that can be done to enhance the security levels. Viruses, Trojans, Ransomware, and other threats are constantly changing and the best way to secure your system is to have a good antivirus installed on your Windows device. If you are not using an antivirus software, you may want to install it in order to stay protected.

If you are using an antivirus on your PC, make sure to keep up with the updates to your version or you will face a potential of a virus or malicious code that has already been released. If you are worried about the updates your PC may have, you might want to turn off your auto-update feature until the time that you feel comfortable about the updates. Antivirus software does not prevent you from getting viruses, it just helps reduce the chance of getting one. There are so many viruses on the Internet that can, if not detected, infect your computer. You can avoid this by using antivirus software. Antivirus software costs money, but for the benefit it gives to your PC, it is worth the money. Get one for your PC and make sure you keep it updated. A 25-year-old Chinese female presented with a history of painful breast and vaginal bleeding for approximately 5 months. Evaluation revealed a US-guided core needle biopsy of the vaginal mass showed a mixed histologic pattern (Figure 1{ref-type="fig"}B) of hyperkeratosis and acanthosis suggestive of a benign etiology. The patient was subsequently prescribed salicylate for pain. However, 3 months later, the patient visited our center with a painful vagina and a pelvic mass that was evaluated with magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) and computed tomography (CT). The MRI showed multiple irregular pelvic and para-aortic lymph nodes with uncertain margins (Figure 1{ref-type="fig"}C). CT further showed a 3 cm mass in the right anterior vaginal wall and an enlarged uterus. A post-contrast examination of the pelvic mass showed intense enhancement with ill-defined irregular margins (Figure 1{ref-type="fig"}D). A transvaginal ultrasound-guided biopsy showed a growth of squamous cell carcinoma. The tumor was then subjected to whole body 18-fluoro-2-deoxyglucose-positron-emission-tomography-computed-tomography (FDG-PET-CT) to search for a primary lesion and revealed multiple pathological lesions in the lungs, liver, stomach, and spleen. A bone scan was also suggestive of a metastatic lesion in the T-12 and L-4 vertebrae, and thus a bronchoscopy was performed with a bronchoalveolar lavage, but no primary tumor was found in the lungs. The patient was then immediately administered 6 cycles of cisplatin and 5-fluorouracil as recommended by the National Comprehensive Cancer Network for metastatic HNSCC. Unfortunately, the patient's condition deteriorated rapidly during chemotherapy and eventually she expired 2 months later. SCC that presented
